

Copyright and Trademarks

Copyright

The content on the Sites is copyrighted and protected under Berne convention. User may not reproduce, republish, or incorporate text or images from the Sites into other media including, but not limited to, web sites, publications and any materials user or others produce without the express permission of the copyright holder. Permission must be granted by HSL or when applicable, by the original copyright holder, if user intends to use content from the Sites for such purposes. For all other purposes HSL asks that user credit the original source by including the appropriate copyright notation. It is the user's responsibility to be aware of current copyright law and its applications and to contact the copyright holder for permission to use non-HSL copyrighted material. The user agrees to indemnify HSL from any costs or claims for infringement of copyright in relation to copies of images or text from the Sites. HSL respects the intellectual property rights of others. If user believes that a copyright has been violated on Sites, please notify us. This copyright notice applies only to this Site.

Trademarks

The logo, name and all graphics on Sites are trademarks of HSL. Use, reproduction, copying or redistribution of trademarks, without the written permission of HSL is prohibited. All other logos, names and graphics appearing on Sites are the marks of their respective owners. Please contact the respective owners for use of their trademarks.

For any copyright or trademark related clarification contact HSL at – contact@humansciencelab.uk